16:00 ERP in the network: How open are we really?

What steps are needed to develop ERP systems from isolated stand-alone solutions into genuine networking platforms? Our panel of experts will analyze the challenges and share their expertise on how companies can successfully dismantle silo structures. The focus is on interface and data management in times of limited capacities and the question of what impact these aspects have on companies' ability to innovate. Find out here how you can future-proof your ERP and increase the efficiency of your processes at the same time.

16:00 Certified Sustainability in the Construction Industry

Zertifizierung Bau is the accredited certification body for the construction industry. Known for certifying specialist companies, management systems, and prequalification according to VOB, the company now also offers certification based on the ZNU Standard for Sustainable Business Practices.

A corresponding certificate demonstrates that a company is seriously engaged with sustainability and is systematically developing in key action areas. The ZNU Standard is the first field-tested and, so far, the only certifiable standard for more sustainable business practices that considers all three dimensions: environment, economy, and society, alongside sustainable corporate management.

It enables companies and stakeholders to move from a defensive position—mere compliance with sustainability regulations—to an offensive one, actively experiencing and leveraging the potential of more sustainable business practices.

Meet Zertifizierung Bau at this trade fair:

□ Booth D29 (Zukunftsperspektive Bau)

Show that sustainable business practices are more than just a buzzword for your company—with a ZNU certificate!

15:45 Automated sustainability: Efficient implementation of the EU Green Deal requirements for the brewing industry

The increasing number of EU regulations presents companies with new and complex challenges. They require efficient solutions in order to cope with the required flood of data and to ensure legally compliant implementation. This has so far been difficult due to the proliferation of isolated solutions for individual regulations. The consequences are increased complexity and additional technical, administrative and financial burdens.

This is precisely where the osapiens HUB comes in: A holistic ESG platform on which comprehensive solutions for the implementation of the various ESG regulations are integrated. The SaaS platform makes sensible use of modern technologies such as AI and automation and meets the increasing ESG and compliance requirements efficiently and in compliance with the law.
