11:30 Efficient collaboration and data management in infrastructure projects

In the lecture "Autodesk Docs as a CDE for the infrastructure" Wenzel Gierlich from Obermeyer and Ines Lämmel from NTI Germany show how Autodesk Docs as a central data environment (CDE) revolutionizes everyday work in infrastructure projects. The focus is on optimizing processes, seamless collaboration between project participants and the secure management of documents and data throughout the entire project life cycle. As an implementation and configuration partner for the Autodesk Construction Cloud in Germany, we at NTI explain how companies can benefit from our expertise to make their projects more efficient and future-proof. Practical examples round off the presentation.

16:45 Artificial intelligence - from ChatGPT to GPT-4

The breakthrough of artificial intelligence has been announced for a very long time. But now, with ChatGPT and GPT-4, the social and economic impact that even experts are not always aware of is becoming apparent. This keynote puts AI in the context of digitalization, explains the principles and industry dynamics of digital corporations and illustrates how artificial intelligence is both underestimated and overestimated. And yet it is changing the world.
